Dr. and Mrs. Werner Pundt are home after a year and a half in South America and Europe, with such items in their luggage as a two-toned paprika-red Karmen-Ghia, which is creating a small stir as it progresses through the streets of Carmel, and a rug which contains 64,000 hand-tied knots per square yard, made by the Indios of Equador.

Dr. Pundt has also brought back from Ecuador a heartening conclusion drawn from his year's contact with the people on his assignment as agricultural expert for the Food and Agricultural Organization of the United Nations.

Communist infiltration has met with little success in Ecuador, according to Dr. Pundt. "The predominantly Catholic population is not receptive to communism. The Indios of Ecuador are slow to accept change and are satisfied with their station in life. Occasional communist inspired riots do occur, but as yet, they have not been able to sway the population."

In Ecuador, the Pundts lived in 9,000 feet high Quito in a Spanish colonial house which had a wonderful view of the Andes.

"I worked with the Ministry of of Agriculture, which entailed many trips into the jungle territory of Ecuador," Dr. Pundt said. When we could, we travelled by plane, but some of it had to be made by jeep. During the rainy season a large part of the country is accessible only by mule back.

"Seventy five percent of the population is either Indian or Indian mixture. Many of the tribes are rather handsome, maintaining old customs, dress and behavior. They all speak Spanish." Dr. Pundt is greatly helped in his career as a United Nations expert by his fluency in Spanish, French and German.

Though bananas, coffee, cocoa and rice are the main money crops, the live stock industry has good possibilities, but needs much technical assistance, Dr. Pundt believes. Some work along these lines has already been started. "Foremost of these programs is that of the United Nations," he pointed out, "while the United States Point 4 Program also occupies an im-

Save Sept. 12 For Big Community Post Office Party

The Big Party date to honor, celebrate, welcome and express appreciation for the remodelled postoffice, "the heart of Carmel" to quote August Nieto, was set this week, September 12, 6:00 to 9:00 o'clock in the evening.

Festivities, sponsored by the Carmel Business Association, will be held inside and outside the postoffice, on Fifth between Dolores and San Carlos Streets.

There will be refreshments. There will be speech making. There will be music. Everybody is invited to attend as guests of the Carmel Business Association. August Nieto is chairman of arrangements.

Fifth Street for a half block in front of the postoffice will be roped off, where, from a platform (decorated in red-white-and-blue bunting, eagles and U.S. Postoffice insignia) speakers will honor the occasion with appropriate words and sentiments. They will be: an official, as yet unnamed, from the district P. O. headquarters in San Francisco; Carmel Post Master Fred Strong, Carmel Business Association President Robert Spencer; Carmel Mayor Frank Putnam.

There will be a portable organ and organist to provide music, and if The Star Spangled Banner, Columbia the Gem of the Ocean, and Rally Round the Flag, Boys are not in the repertory for a community sing, it will be a shame.

Inside, postoffice staff will show visitors how affairs are managed on the other side of the boxes. Coffee, cake, cookies and punch will be served.

1200 Day Students Expected At MPC For Opening, Sept. 6

Monterey Peninsula College will have enrolled the largest freshman class in its history—nearly 700 students—when registration is completed on the first day of the fall semester, September 6.

The MPC bus will pick up Carmel students at 7:15 o'clock on Tuesday morning at Carpenter and Third; 7:17 at Ocean and Santa Fe; 7:20 at Monte Verde and Ocean; 7:26 at San Carlos and Eleventh; 7:30, Mission Fields and River Road; 7:35 at Carmel High. The bus arrives at MPC at 7:45. It leaves the college at 4:30 in the afternoon to return the students to Carmel.

Dean of Students Ralph Smith attributed the increase—a sizable one over last year—to the number of graduates entering from Monterey Union High School, Carmel High School, Pacific Grove High School and Junipero Memorial High School this fall.

Total enrollment of 1200 day college students is expected. All of these will be required to arrive on campus at 8:00 o'clock Tuesday to validate their registrations, verify their addresses, check housing, acquire parking permits and take chest X-rays.

Processing will take place in the college library. The bookstore will be open for the purchase of texts, and the Student Union will serve breakfast, lunch and snacks. Classes will begin immediately, with a faculty of 65, including five new instructors, offering lower division courses under the following general headings:

Anthropology, Business, Architecture, Economics, Criminology, Drama, Education, Electronics,

Classes Resume Tues. In Carmel District Schools

All five schools in the Carmel Unified School District open on Tuesday, the day after Labor Day.

First classes at Carmel High School begin at 8:00 o'clock in the morning for some students, 9:00 for others. There will be two lunch hours in the cafeteria, starting respectively at 12:05 and 1:05 o'clock.

Principal Warren Edwards reports pre-opening registration has raised the number of students, as of today, to 710 as compared to 618 at school closing in June. The entering freshman class has 250 students. More students are expected to register in all classes when school opens. There are three new faculty members. Harold Lippstreu will teach industrial arts and crafts; Miss Antoinette Angle, biology, Charles Sciutto is the new vice principal.

Sixth, Seventh and Eighth grade students report to Sunset School at 9:00 o'clock. The first bell will ring at 8:55 and no pupils will be allowed on the grounds before 8:30. Sixth grade pupils will be dismissed at 3:30 o'clock; seventh and eighth grades at 3:40.

So far 36 new students have registered at Sunset. There are no new teachers but Neil Jensen, who has been away from the district for a year, will return to teach mathematics and science, and Mrs. Willie Belle Mason, formerly of

Council Split On Permit, Planners To Meet Friday

Carmel planning commissioners will meet tomorrow afternoon at 4:00 o'clock in city hall to consider six major changes in the proposed new zoning ordinance which did not meet with the approval of city councilmen at last night's joint commission-council meeting. They will also consider defining conditional uses in C-1-L zone.

Tomorrow's meeting was arranged after Councilman Francis Whitaker observed that the differences of opinion between council and commission could only be resolved by a compromise between the two bodies' thinking and revisions in the zoning ordinance must be made.

Major differences established last night were site control, the employment of conditional uses, open space requirements, limiting gas stations and gas station locations; square footage of motel sites and C-1-L zone.

Only revision to the ordinance made by the planning commission last night was to change gas stations from a permitted use to a conditional use in C-2 (general commercial) zone. Gas stations are now allowed with a use permit in both C-1-S and C-2 zones in the proposed ordinance.

All nine existing gas stations in Carmel are nonconforming uses under the old zoning ordinance. Under proposed new zoning, six of the present stations situated in proposed C-1-C (retail commercial) zone, would continue nonconforming; three, in proposed C-1-S zone, would be allowed with a use permit.

Last night Councilmen Whitaker, Eben Whittlesey and Gunnar Norberg opposed this planning commission proposal in the proposed ordinance. Mayor Frank Putnam defended it. Council John Chitwood was noncommittal.

Councilman Whittlesey spoke first on the new zoning ordinance. "I feel there should be a slightly larger open space requirement than two percent," he said in reference to the ordinance requirement that two percent of a business district site must be provided for landscaping.

Secondly, Mr. Whittlesey stated C-1-S zone general uses in the proposed ordinance were "too

Monterey Peninsula Junior College Board has a list of five Carmel Unified School District citizens—not school board members—under consideration for appointment to the newly established JC district board. Until elections can be held next Spring, the Monterey High School Board also serves as board for the JC district.

Before Carmel voted for annexation to the JC district in July, JC board members pointed out that in case of resignation of any of their members, they would be free to recommend a resident of the Carmel School District to the board of supervisors for appointment.

Walter Warfield, JC board member, has taken this pre-election promise more seriously than did Carmelites. He has announced that he will offer his resignation from the JC board when it meets September 14, to make way for a Carmel District appointment.

Meanwhile, the JC board has sought guidance from the Carmel School board, League of Women Voters and other Carmel organizations and citizens, as to whom they should recommend for appointment. A list of five names is under consideration, and the choice will be announced at the September 14 JC board meeting.

Warfield will continue his service on the Monterey Union High School Board.

This is W. D. Boyce Week in California, proclaimed by Governor Edmund G. Brown to honor W. D. Boyce, founder in 1910 of the Boy Scouts of America. His daughter, Mrs. Happy Boyce Parker, lives in Carmel as did his wife, until her death last year.

Today at the National Convention in North Carolina, Mrs. Parker will receive the newly-created W. D. Boyce award during a banquet of the Elbeetian Legion of Lone Scout alumni, honoring the unknown Boy Scout whose aid to Mr. Boyce in a London fog inspired the latter to organize Scouting in the United States.

School District Superintendent Stuart Mitchell and Assistant Superintendent Wayne Greenfield are now in new offices in the temporary building erected adjacent to the old administration cottage at Pescadero and First. After they moved into The Crystal Palace, as they have dubbed it, Mrs. Edith Skillman, Mr. Mitchell's secretary, moved into his vacated office in the cottage. There is a runway and doorway connecting the two buildings. Mr. Mitchell and Mr. Greenfield have wonder-

P. G. Seeks To Join Jr. College By Petition, Public Hearing Sept. 14

The Pacific Grove school board will hold a public hearing September 14, 7:30 o'clock, in the board room, Pacific Grove, to discover if there are any citizen objections to dispensing with an election in the Grove's annexation to Monterey Peninsula Junior College District.

"We want to save cost of election, about $500, if we can," Superintendent John Nicoll said this morning.

If there is no substantial protest at the public hearing, the Pacific Grove School board will ask the Monterey Peninsula Junior College District board to petition the coun-

LITTLE LEAGUE MEETING AT SUNSET SEPTEMBER 6

President Bob Connell has called a Little League Corporation meeting next Tuesday night at 8:00 o'clock at the Sunset Cafeteria. Big item on the agenda will be the nomination and election of board members for the coming year. Also up for discussion will be the playing site for the Pony League. During the past season the Pony League games were played at the Carmel High School diamond, but league officials feel that the poor condition of the diamond makes for hazardous playing conditions. Some thought has been given to extending the Little League park or building a Pony League diamond next to the Little League diamond.

All Little League Corporation members are invited to Tuesday night's meeting and stockholders may pay their dues at the door.

SIXTY PREPS ANSWER FIRST FOOTBALL CALL

Wednesday afternoon's first football practice at Carmel High found sixty candidates going through their paces under the direction of Coaches Fred Rainer and George Mosolf. This is a considerably smaller turnout than in past years but the squad should be bolstered somewhat when school starts on September 6. Varsity and junior-varsity squads will work together for the rest of the week to give the coaches a chance to analyze the material and allow the players to absorb uniform fundamentals.

Welcomed to the Padre squad were five transfers from other school districts. Bob Palma, a quarterback, and George Pollock, a running back, were varsity performers for Monterey's Junipero Memorial High last season but will wear the Red & Gray spangles this year. Lee Puryear, a 160-pounder from Fresno and Garfield Sciutto from Truckee are making bids for guard positions on the varsity. Dennis Blasius played an end position at Monterey High last season and will try for a wing spot on the Padre squad.

With eight varsity candidates returning in the persons of John and Chris Wilkin, Frank Mayo, Paul Rice, Doyle Clayton, Nick Molitor, Mike Draper, and Bill Coleman, the Padres have the nucleus for a solid ball club which could ably carry on the tradition of winning Carmel High teams. Good support is furnished by the proved performers coming up from the junior-varsity squad which has dominated the CCAL B-division in recent years. Bolstering the varsity cause in this season's play will be junior-varsity lettermen Scott Forbes, Frank Bucher, Bartley Blout, Charlie Todd, Lee Oleson, Dan Moore, Dave Faulkner, Don deBord, Frank Preve, Tony Schaurrer, Paul Jones, Mike Quarrie, Steve Rogers, Bob Blair, Jim Willcox, Wiley Bryant, Mark Sloane, Mike Smith, Mike Cole, and Tony Belleci.

Carmel High opened practice Wednesday afternoon and will hold one-a-day practices until the CCAL Jamboree on September 16. The Padres are slated to move up into the A-division in the Jamboree, clashing with the big North Salinas varsity in the fourth 'game' of the Jamboree.

ANNETTE STOESSER WINS STATE FAIR TENNIS CROWN

Annette Stoesser, Carmel's favorite racket wielder, added the California State Fair Junior Girls Tennis Championship to her already impressive list of court titles garnered during the past year. The lithesome Carmel teenager rallied to beat San Francisco's Jan Conroy, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4 in the Sacramento playoffs at the Capital City last weekend.

In addition to the State Fair Championships, Miss Stoesser has won the Nation Parks Junior title for the 1960 season. In her advance to the State Fair title, Annette stroked her way by San Francisco's Leslie Abramson, 6-2, 6-2.

CLEAT MARKS

King Football appears to have shoved baseball out of the limelight early in the 1960 season and if the trend continues, football will take over as the summer sport as well as the fall and winter diversion for the contact-minded.

With the pros starting activities early in July, football is rapidly becoming the year-around sport for the American youth . . . Coach George Porter's Monterey Peninsula College eleven will rely for the most part on Monterey Peninsula talent during the upcoming 1960 season. While the 1959 Lobo varsity was liberally sprinkled with talent from the outlying districts, the 1960 team will be familiar to local fans with a Peninsula flavor occasioned by prep performers recently graduated from Monterey, Carmel and Pacific Grove high schools. Carmel grads who will check out football suits at the MPC campus on September 1 are Tim Mitchell, David Hansen, Fred Bucher, Doug McClurg, and Harrison Hilbert. These lads were all-leaguers in the CCAL last season and should be top performers for Coach George Porter's crew . . . Two ex-Padre gridders are headed for duty with four-year colleges with Parker Pollock slated to hold down a defensive end position with the Humbolt State Lumberjacks and Mike Mosolf making a bid for the quarterback job with the Idaho Vandals. Both the Lumberjacks and Vandals are scheduled to play in the Hawaiian Islands during the coming season so both Carmel lads will reap the educational benefits of air travel . . . The officiating problem in the Coast Counties Athletic League is still unsolved and it appears likely to remain unsolved unless the Board of Managers can come up with a workable compromise for the Coast Counties Officials Association. As the situation stands now, the CCAL intends to employ three inexperienced officials for each of its games and gamble with the safety and welfare of the players. The veteran officials in the Coast Association are continuing to hold meetings to study the rules and mechanics of officiating and are ready to go into action as soon as the school principals give the word. To hire people unfamiliar with officiating techniques can create a dangerous situation which could cause needless injury to the youngsters participating in the game . . . A poll of the experts throughout the CCAL shows the Santa Cruz Cardinals favored to finish on top of the A-division with the B-division title up for grabs among Hollister, Pacific Grove, and Carmel. Hollister is loaded with returning lettermen and will start the season with a new coaching staff and renewed spirit, Pacific Grove has 18 award-winners returning for another year's action and, in Fred McGaughey, has the top running back in the league. Gilroy and King City each have twelve returning lettermen while the defending champion Padres can count only eight returning varsity players.

CARMEL ENTRIES FOR GOLF TOURNAMENT

Among players from Carmel already entered in the California Amateur Championship to be played at Pebble Beach September 19-25 are: Harry Craviotto, Sal T. Gonzales, Louis Holtzhauer, Richard Roberts, Eugene Scheffer, Don Sands and Joseph Stoddard.

Entries in the California Amateur Handicap Tournament which is played over the Monterey Peninsula Country Club and Del Monte Golf courses September 19-25 will close Saturday, September 3. Entries must be in the hands of the Tournament Committee, Pebble Beach, California, by that date.

SCOTT WINS FAIR PIGEON TROPHY

The Monterey County Fair sponsored the Carmel-Monterey-Seaside Racing Pigeon Club's third race of the Young Bird Series, flown Sunday from Truckee, California, a distance of approximately 215 air miles. Birds were released at 7:00 o'clock in the morning, the weather was clear and calm.

1839—California vaqueros set the pattern for cowboys to follow

GOLDEN MOMENTS

In California history—long before cowboy was a household word, colorful vaqueros were herding cattle on our plains.

In California life—today, an important word in many of our households is beer, the beverage of moderation. Beer means enjoyment . . . it stands for prosperity, too. Last year, 7,800 Californians earned a total of $5.5 million in the Brewing Industry—another reason why beer means better living for all in the "Golden State."

Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Broaddus celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Saturday with a reception in the Garden Room of the Church of the Wayfarer. Two hundred and twenty-three persons signed the guest book, 70 of them from out of town.

Leonard Fletcher, in the absence of the pastor, Dr. K. Fillmore Gray, congratulated Ted and Mabel Broaddus on their long married life and announced the singing of Because by John Farr, accompanied by Mrs. Connell Carruth and Mrs. Milton Shutes, violinist, also the reading of excerpts from Browning's poem, Rabbi Ben Ezra, by Mrs. Howard Bissell of Stockton. The opening lines of this poem, "Grow old along with me," Dr. Broaddus had engraved on the inside of Mrs. Broaddus' wedding ring before their marriage in 1910 in the Congregational Church, Salt Lake City, when the Reverend McNiece, a Presbyterian minister and family friend, performed the ceremony.

The Broaddus' wedding 50 years ago had a yellow and gold color scheme. Saturday's golden wedding anniversary party carried out the same color motif. Both the punch and cake tables were covered with lace cloths over gold satin. In the center of the punch table was a large bouquet of chrysanthemums in several shades of yellow and gold. On the cake table the three-tiered gold and yellow-decorated cake stood between golden candles in brass holders. Napkins, with gold embossed Grecian chain borders were all autographed in gold leaf by Ted and Mabel Broaddus. Each guest was given a name label, white for friends, gold for relatives.

Ladies assisting with the reception wore golden glow corsages and each man a golden glow boutonniere. These flowers were grown by Mrs. Broaddus in her garden for the occasion because at her wedding 50 years ago, each of her six bridesmaids carried armfuls of golden glow blossoms. Three of these bridesmaids attended the golden wedding party. They were Mrs. Broaddus' sister, Mrs. S. H. Hall of Stockton, also her sister-in-law, Mrs. Howard Jones and Miss Welthea Learned, both from Salt Lake City.

Mrs. Broaddus welcomed guests wearing a gown of peach-colored nylon lace over cloth of gold, a yellow rosebud corsage, and shoes which matched her dress. Dr. Broaddus had a rosebud boutonniere in his coat lapel. Young Susan Broaddus, Anne Marie Walker and Cathy Balk greeted each guest as they arrived. Michael Broaddus, Alex Turkatte and Dr. Russell Jones were in charge of the guest book. Members of the Wayfarer Guild of which Dr. and Mrs. Broaddus's daughter, Zeala, is president, presided at the refreshment tables. Local friends who assisted with the reception were Mrs. Ted Fehring, Mrs. Sam Moore, Mrs. Aimee Charlton, Mrs. Milton Shutes, Mrs. Edward Jackemy, Mrs. Stephen Langmaid, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Beshore, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Herring and Mrs. Karl Hisgen.

Following the reception, a buffet supper was served to out of town guests and friends at Blue Vista, the home of Dr. and Mrs. Broaddus on San Antonio Street, in the garden, house and patio.

Close relatives at the golden wedding anniversary were Dr. and Mrs. Broaddus' daughter Zeala; their son, Bernard, with his children, Susan and Michael, from Stockton; their son, Lieutenant Colonel Robert E. Broaddus of Fort Riley, Kansas; their foster son, Alex Turkatte, from Stockton College; Dr. Broaddus' brother, Lewis, with his son, William, also William's wife and father-in-law, F. H. Lang, all from Inglewood.

Other relatives present were Colonel Tyler Walker (USA Ret.) and Mrs. Walker with their daughter, Anne Marie, Saratoga; Dr. and Mrs. Francis Jones and children, Burton, Dorothy and Emily, Berkeley; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stone, Morgan Hill; Miss Louise Morse, Pasadena; Miss Rubie Burton, Santa Barbara; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hall, San Jose; Dr. Russell Jones, Brawley.

Old friends from Stockton, where Dr. Broaddus was an eye, ear, nose and throat specialist for 30 years, were Mrs. Sophie Porter, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Balk, Cathy Balk, Mrs. Blossom Sutherland, Mr. and Mrs. E. Edward Best, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bissell, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bistline, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Blewett, Mr. and Mrs. Toby Boquist, Mr. and Mrs. William Dawson, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hofmeister, Mr. and Mrs. Wareham Seaman, Peggy and Cynthia Seaman, Dr. and Mrs. William Plageman, Dr. and Mrs. Frank McGuire, Dr. and Mrs. James Pope, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Van Vlear, Frank Thornton Smith, Mrs. Lesla Dixon, Herb Launspach, and Mrs. Glenn Golden.

Also from out of town were Pete McCain, Visalia; Mrs. Bertha Wells and her son, Chester, Menlo Park; Mrs. J. C. Wood, San Mateo; and Mrs. Mitford Crinklaw and Virginia, Newman.

TOUR NEW ENGLAND STATES

Mrs. Frank H. DeCamp and her daughter, Mrs. Virginia Beattie, will leave by train on September 10 for an Eastern visit. While Mrs. DeCamp stays in Wilmington, Deleware, Mrs. Beattie will go to New York for the first time in 20 years, "I'm really excited," she says. Together Mrs. DeCamp and Mrs. Beattie will drive through New England during October. They have tentative plans to come home across Canada by train.

While her mother is away Cynthia Beattie, Carmel High School senior, will live with friends in Carmel Valley.

Today another of Mrs. Beattie's four daughters, Tricia, is coming home for the Labor Day holiday. She is private secretary and Girl Friday for Peter Tewkesbury, director of Father Knows Best, who now has a new television program in production.

Jim Glaser, Pebble Beach, Writes His Impression Of Olympics' Opening Day

Hotel Excelsior
Roma
August 25, 1960

Today marks the opening ceremony of the XVII Olympiad, here at Rome, with all the beauty, all the pomp and the feeling that ever obtained in any gathering of the folks of many lands and many climes; not for any matter of aught but that of athletes bound in a common cause; of the world's peoples foregathered, not to make treaties, nor to bargain, not to harass each other, nor to create problems. There's a common bond of athletic prowess that's so very great and enthralling to behold!

All traffic was halted some three quarters of a mile from the great Stadium, and the crowds milled their way on through the great avenue of the Olympics, noisily, happily. One of those beauteous, sunny days with a feeling of joy in the very air itself.

Here, we were all on the way to see, to be each in our own small way, a part of the great Event. So joyousness was indeed the one way to express the feeling of this great crowd, as it spread towards the gates of the Stadio Olympico.

Once in, people, people and more people: Americans and French, Belgians, Italians, Sengalese, Japanese, all the peoples and tongues and races that some 87 nations represent. Yes, people, thousands and tens of thousands of them . . . 10,000 . . . 110,000 . . . not too important, but how very, VERY important the fact that we, each one of us, was there.

The sheer beauty of the great stadium with its green centre, and the representatives of each nation entering, with their flag, and to the applause of the crowd, the appreciation for the fact that each nation had sent its representatives, no matter the size of the delegation, the singing of the Olympic Hymn, followed by the symbolic release of hundreds and thousands of doves to the salvo of gunfire, and then . . . then, the entrance of the Olympic Torch, which had been relayed from Greece to Rome, for the lighting of the permanent torch which will burn until the closing ceremony of the Games. The flags of all the countries being assembled in the centre, something very beautiful, and thrilling and heart-warming, that somehow or other sends the cold shivers up and down the spine through the very intensity of the feelings aroused.

One might indeed consider these Games as the World's Series, for such indeed they are, with something intangible in the air of excitement, of beauty, of real awareness. Yes, there's competition there and tough, fierce competition it is. Mayhap the words of Baron de Coubertin, the father of the modern Olympics, can give the real answer, "The most important thing in the Olympic Games is not to win but to take part, just as the most important thing in life is not to have conquered but to have fought well."

Fun With Psychiatry In Play Opening At The Circle, Sept. 9

Psychoanalysis, a subject ripe for satire, gets a shrewd but sympathetic going-over in Oh, Men! Oh Women!, opening at the Golden Bough Circle Theatre on September 9. Edward Chodorov has written a comedy which gets closer and closer to farce as the patients of a fashionable New York psychoanalyst intervene in the doctor's own love-life. Frederick Rider sets the pace of the play's three uproarious acts, both as director and as leading actor.

Neither a long Broadway run, starring Franchot Tone, nor a movie version which featured David Niven, has exhausted the popularity of Chodorov's tale, which concerns the transformation of the somewhat austere "head-shrinker" into a genuine human being. The analyst, on stage throughout most of the play, talks far less than he listens to an assortment of whacky patients whose neurotic entanglements provide most of the fun. The web they spin involves the doctor's garrulous fiancee, and he is soon entrapped in a series of situations that would ruffle the authority of Freud himself.

Allene Venegas makes her bow at the Circle in the role of the doctor's pretty but feather-brained intended, following in the footsteps of Betsy von Furstenberg and Ginger Rogers. Peggy Phillips and Nick Zanides appear as a couple whose marital squabbles point a lesson for the analyst. Peter Weldon, the popular Willy of Hobson's Choice, returns in the role of a nervous young man driven to distraction by an affair with Miss Venegas, and Michael Franke is a pillar of sanity amidst the frenzy, as an aged psychiatrist.

Mary Weisiger will also be seen in the up-to-date comedy, which will play weekends only at the Golden Bough through October 16.

This bank's story reads like a Western!

"Newspapers have been telling the story for over a hundred years, and I think it's still a great yarn. Here's a bank that had branches out in the roughest part of the Gold Country as early as 1853. In those days it was just as hard for miners to keep gold as to find it. And believe me, it took plenty of vision and courage to pioneer a banking service in those times.

"You know, this bank still has a flair for moving in wherever it's needed. Money isn't any easier to hold on to now than it was then, and Wells Fargo American Trust is still the best place to find out how to do it. They're convenient, they have all the services—checking, savings, safe deposit, whatever you need. I think I'm pretty smart about money, but the manager at my branch can often show me a better way to manage my financial affairs.

"The big thing is they're interested in my business—that's why I'm sure they do a better job for me. Why don't you stop in and see what they can do for you?"

19 SIERRA CLUB FEATURE IN CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR

The Christian Science Monitor of August 8 carries on the front page of its second section a feature article on the work of the Sierra Club, with two large photographs reproduced from the book recently published by the Sierra Club, "This is the American Earth", by Ansel Adams and Nancy Newhall. The article was written by Philip Hyde, one of America's leading scenic photographers who lived in Carmel during 1952 and 1953 and who was featured in the Pine Cone during that period.

The Sierra Club at present has over 16,000 members but it should have many times that number. If everyone on the Monterey Peninsula would read this story, perhaps a few more would join forces with this very active conservation and recreation organization. Here is Philip Hyde's story, word for word:

"If John Muir, our celebrated Western naturalist, could today see one of his favorite projects, the Sierra Club, he would be surprised. He would also be immensely pleased, for his prime purpose in founding the Sierra Club in 1892 was to develop an organization that would become a strong voice for protecting the natural scene. From the small beginning of five men in 1892, brought together by Muir, the Sierra Club has grown to its present membership of over 16,000, and to national prominence as a major voice for the protection of our natural scenic resources.

"The club's motto reads: 'To explore, enjoy and preserve the Sierra Nevada and other scenic resources of the United States'. It is made up of people who are dedicated to enjoying our natural scenic resources and to making sure that they will be here for coming generations to enjoy. Though it has long since outgrown the possibility of holding a "club meeting", the membership is divided into a number of chapters which sponsor local activities, such as educational meetings, lectures, local walks, climbs, auto-tours, and camping outings. Much of the membership is concentrated in the West, but there are also active chapters and groups in Chicago, New York and Washington.

"The Sierra Club sponsors a varied program of summer outings which emphasize the 'explore and enjoy' part of its motto, but they are not wtihout purpose in fulfilling its chief objective, for they are, in a sense, basic training for the rising conservationists, and are often scheduled in an area where a conservation problem has arisen.

"Outings this summer include such varied places as the North Cascades of Washington, the High Sierra of Yosemite and Kings Canyon National Parks in California, the San Juan Wilderness in Colorado, Three Sisters Wilderness in Oregon, and the Sawtooth Range in Idaho. River trips are floating Sierrans down the Green and Yampa Rivers in Dinosaur National Monument, on the Green through Desolation Canyon, the Rogue in Oregon. An innovation this year in the expanding scope of outings is the canoe trip through Minnesota's Quetico-Superior canoe wilderness. Another outing, not all on the enjoyment side, is the Clean-up Week in a littered scenic area.

"Behind this variety of activities is the philosophy that education and experience are prerequisite to conservation; that natural beauty, like freedom, will be most enthusiastically defended by those who have experienced it.

"The present leadership of the club knows where it came from; mature people now who were the trail-blazers and crag rats of yesterday, who know the joys of wilderness and want their children to know them too.

"In its work of making Americans more aware of their great natural scenic resources, the Sierra Club publishes the Sierra Club Bulletin, described as 'that model of mountain periodicals' by Ronald Clark, British author. It has also of recent years begun to publish books of conservation significance.

"Its most recent publication, This Is The American Earth, by Ansel Adams and Nancy Newhall, has been hailed as a landmark in American publishing. It expresses beautifully and powerfully what the Sierra Club stands for. With superb photographs made by Ansel Adams, and those of 30 other leading photographers, its moving poetic text by Nancy Newhall poses the 6,000-year question: Will civilized men learn to live with his environment, so carefully and painstakingly prepared for him since the birth of the planet—or will he go on ruining it, and himself in the process?

"His tools and his technology today are more ruinously efficient than any he has before possessed during his brief tenancy on earth. Will the development of his most important resource, the spiritual, come soon enough to teach him how to use his tools wisely to preserve his environment, and himself?"

TV Classroom With Credit Courses Starts Sept. 26

Continental Classroom the NBC network television program for college credit will return to the air for the third consecutive year on September 26, with a new series in Modern Algebra, and a repeat performance of last semester's Modern Chemistry.

University of California Extension will again cooperate with the Learning Resources Institute in offering correspondence courses in conjunction with the television lectures. The courses are supervised by U.C. mathematicians and are based on the telecasts and on the textbook written by the TV lecturer.

Modern Algebra will be divided into two sections. Liberal arts students and the general public should watch the lessons which are telecast on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 6:30 to 7:00. The correspondence course titled Modern Algebra XB5 is keyed to this section.

Teachers and others interested in obtaining graduate credit should follow the telecasts five days a week and enroll in the correspondence course Modern Algebra for Teachers X 325.

Modern Chemistry X 350 is designed for teachers and the general public and requires daily viewing from 6:00 to 6:30 a.m. Each course carries three units of credit.

Local channel which will carry the early-morning lectures is KRON, channel 4, San Francisco.

National teacher of Modern Algebra is Dr. John L. Kelley, professor of mathematics and head of the mathematics department on the Berkeley campus of the University. Dr. Kelley has taught at the Universities of Notre Dame, Chicago and Kansas and at Tulare University and Cambridge University. He is a former fellow at the Institute for Advanced Study, Princeton.

Further information about the television-correspondence courses may be obtained from the Department of Correspondence Instruction, University Extension, University of California, Berkeley 4, California. Application for enrollment may be made at any Extension office.

Happy O'Malleys Back From Borneo Despite Tidal Waves And Typhoons

Although hoisted by tidal waves in San Pedro harbor and chased west and east by typhoons, Mr. and Mrs. Bill O'Malley report they had a restful three-months voyage on the Norwegian freighter Bonneville while traveling to Hong Kong, Singapore, the Malay States, Borneo and the Philippine Islands, disembarking in San Francisco, "the only two happy people on the ship."

They were supposed to end their voyage in Los Angeles but a longshoremen's strike forced the Bonneville to put into San Francisco. The other ten passengers on the boat were inconvenienced by this but not the O'Malleys who were delighted to be brought nearer to Carmel.

They sailed from San Francisco to Los Angeles at the start of their trip; then were delayed for several days in San Pedro harbor while tidal waves surged across the Pacific and delayed departure. "We really felt them," Bill O'Malley remarks.

On their way to Manila and also returning to this country typhoons followed behind the ship," but didn't quite catch us," he reports.

The O'Malleys landed in Borneo in three stages, ship to launch, launch to sampan, sampan to shoes, the latter stage by wading through shallow water after crouching in the sampan which had insufficient head room for sitting and was boarded by crawling.

As guests of the manager of a local mill which was loading logs on the Bonneville, also his wife, the O'Malleys visited a native village. The one-room houses, "in which lived eight or ten kids," each had one bed, covered by crocheted lace and embroidered counterpanes, and piled with pillows similary adorned, "and everyone slept on mats on the floor," Mrs. O'Malley states.

They also saw a shelf of shoes in each house. These, the manager's wife reported, were for special occasions when the natives "dressed to kill". The women wore quantities of gold jewelry and the children of the village who crowded about wore numerous multicolored bracelets and anklets of a material that looked like plastic to Mrs. O'Malley.

While staying in Singapore, the O'Malleys visited the nearby State of Johore where the sultan is building a new palace. In Penang, now an independent Malay State, formerly a British Crown Colony, Mr. and Mrs. O'Malley found the government had requested British military personnel to remain in the new state to maintain law and order until the "switch" was complete. They visited botanical gardens here and fed finger bananas to packs of wild monkeys.

In Sumatra the O'Malleys say money was difficult to exchange in banks. Sometimes the only way to obtain native currency was through moneychangers. "This made husbands on the ship happy," Bill observes.

At one small Sumatran port the captain would not allow passengers to land and soldiers with guns guarded the pier. "I rushed to the side of the ship when I heard a shot," Mrs. O'Malley reports, "and saw a crowd gathered. I knew someone had been shot."

Later she found out the shooting victim was one of the large snakes which abound in the water. It had started to writhe up a pier piling and been observed by a sentry who dispatched it.

The O'Malley's visit to Manila coincided with President Eisenhower's. Thousands of people crowded to see him and "not a blade of grass could be seen on lawns in parks he passed", the O'Malleys observed from a distance.

Shopping in Hong Kong was not lavish for Mrs. O'Malley as the heat was intense.

"We were wet again seconds after a shower," she reports. "It was hard to think of buying clothes suitable for Carmel in that humidity."

Bill O'Malley admits he had to work on the trip and continued to produce his Reverend syndicated comic strips and other cartoons.

Both the O'Malleys plan to remain at home in Carmel for a while. "There is only one freighter trip we can still take out from this coast," the frequent travelers lament.

DEMOCRATS FORM CLUB

Monterey Peninsula Young Democrats met for the first time last evening at Democratic headquarters, 229 Alvarado Street, and elected James Grace of Pacific Grove temporary chairman. They discussed the establishment of a constitution, selected committees and outlined the long range purpose and plans of the Young Democrats.

Membership in this newly-formed organization is open to young people 16-35 years old and no one age group will be in the majority.

Present last night were State Senator Fred S. Farr, also Dr. John E. Craige, candidate for Assembly; Thomas Page, attorney, and Bryan Hutton, representative for California Federation of Young Democrats. Dale Russell of Pebble Beach was appointed to take charge of public relations. Both Russell and Chairman Grace will be sophomores at Monterey Peninsula College this year.

Registration Starts This Week For MPC Night Division Offering Letters-Science College Courses

Registration for the fall semester of Monterey Peninsula College's Evening Division began Monday in the MPC library, to continue afternoons and evenings until 9:30 through Friday, September 9. Evening school starts September 12. Registration will not be held in class on the first night of instruction as in previous years.

Most courses, covering a wide range of lower-division subjects offering college credits or not, as the student elects, meet once or twice a week through January 26, 1961. There is no tuition fee, though students are asked to purchase a $2.50 student activity card. Money thus collected helps support the Evening Lecture Series, Critique III and Theater Arts film series.

Courses in art, business, chemistry, drama, economics, and English will be offered.

Taught by the engineering and mathematics department will be courses in algebra, finite mathematics and mechanical drawing.

Several languages, taught by army language school instructors will be offered: beginning Arabic, Chinese Mandarin, elementary French, elementary German, elementary Latin, elementary and intermediate Russian, elementary and oral Spanish.

Journalism classes will include a limited one in magazine article writing and another in fiction.

A course in comparative linguistics (36) carries the prerequisite of Linguistics 25 and knowledge of one European language.

The music department will offer an introduction to music literature and a class in styles in jazz, as well as a laboratory course in string ensemble.

Physical science courses will include genetics, geology and a survey of the physical sciences. Offered by the social science department will be anthropology, a new course in geography, several history courses, philosophy, political science, psychology, speech.

The technical and vocational department will offer courses in aviation, construction technology, criminology, data processing, dental assisting, public relations and fire science technology.

Evening Division brochures will be mailed on request from the Evening Division office, FR 5-9821.

Art On The Peninsula—

The Carmel Art Association, after many months of planning, has awarded the contract for the changes to be made in the galleries to Barker Bros. of Carmel. Work wil begin by the middle of September, and it will be necessary to close down the regular gallery operations for at least a month.

It is expected that the entire work on the building will be completed in three months. The exhibition now on the walls will be extended to September 12. As soon as it is possible to have a new show, every member of the association will be notified.

The members of the building committee, working with the architect, W. Ricker, who have been developing the plans for the changes in the galleries, include George Seideneck (Chairman), C. J. Ryland, Donald Teague, Leslie Emery, Maxine Albro, Jessie MacGregor, John Halloran, and Clarence Bates.

President Rip Matteson suggests it would be advisable for artists to remove all their paintings from the gallery before the contractors begin work, about the middle of September.

S. C. Yuan of Carmel has been awarded the first prize, $100, in the art show in connection with the Lodi Grape Festival which will open on September 16 and run for two days. His prize-winning picture, The Mighty Sea, is a seascape oil.

Other Carmel winners in the Lodi show were Marjorie Doolittle, second, Ethlyn Crouch, third, in the oil still life or portrait classification. A. G. Warshawsky won an honorable mention in this group.

Mrs. Doolittle's picture was titled, Still Life With Apples; Mrs. Crouch's, Boy in Red Sweater; Mr. Warshawsky's, The Gypsy.

The paintings of Mrs. Charles Clinton Heller will be on view at the Carmel Foundation Town House during the month of September. Mrs. Heller studied under Lee Randolph and is one of the original members of the Town House painting group.

The exhibit will open with a tea on Tuesday at 3:00 o'clock. Serving with Mrs. Heller at the tea will be her daughters, Mrs. Byron C. Clayton and Mrs. Williams S. Keily of Los Angeles, who, with their husbands, are visiting Mrs. Heller at her home on Santa Rita Street. A third daughter, Mrs. Albert Leaman of San Jose, is expected later.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

How mankind today can set about fulfilling the divine demand for perfection will be explained at Christian Science services Sunday.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Man" is the Golden Text from Matthew (5:48): "Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect."

These comforting words of encouragement from James will be included in the Bible readings (1:2-4): "My brethren, count it all joy when ye fall into divers temptations; Knowing this, that the trying of your faith worketh patience. But let patience have her perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing."

Among correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this will be read: "The divine demand, 'Be ye therefore perfect,' is scientific, and the human footsteps leading to perfection are indispensable (253:32-2) . . . God requires perfection, but not until the battle between Spirit and flesh is fought and the victory won" (254:6-8).

Frederica Finlay Married

The marriage of Frederica Finlay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phillips Finlay of Pebble Beach, and Beresford Parlett of London took place on Saturday afternoon in All Saints' Episcopal Church. The Reverend H. M. M. Nicholas officiated at the 4:00 o'clock ceremony which was followed by a reception at the Finlay home on the Seventeen Mile Drive.

The young couple will live in Palo Alto where the bride is a senior year student at Stanford University and the bridegroom, a graduate of New College, Oxford, is studying for his master's degree in mathematics. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Norman Parlett of London.

To Attend Stephens College

Francesca Farr and Wendy Wiegman will be freshmen students this year at Stephens College, Columbia, Missouri.

Francesca, the daughter of Senator and Mrs. Fred Farr, graduated from Santa Catalina School for Girls in June.

Wendy is a Carmel High School graduate and one of last year's cheerleaders. Her mother is Mrs. Beatrice Wiegman, Sunset School seventh grade teacher, who is also president of the Carmel unit of the California Teachers' Association.

Mrs. Wiegman and Wendy returned to their Carmel home yesterday after spending the summer in Cuernavaca, Mexico.

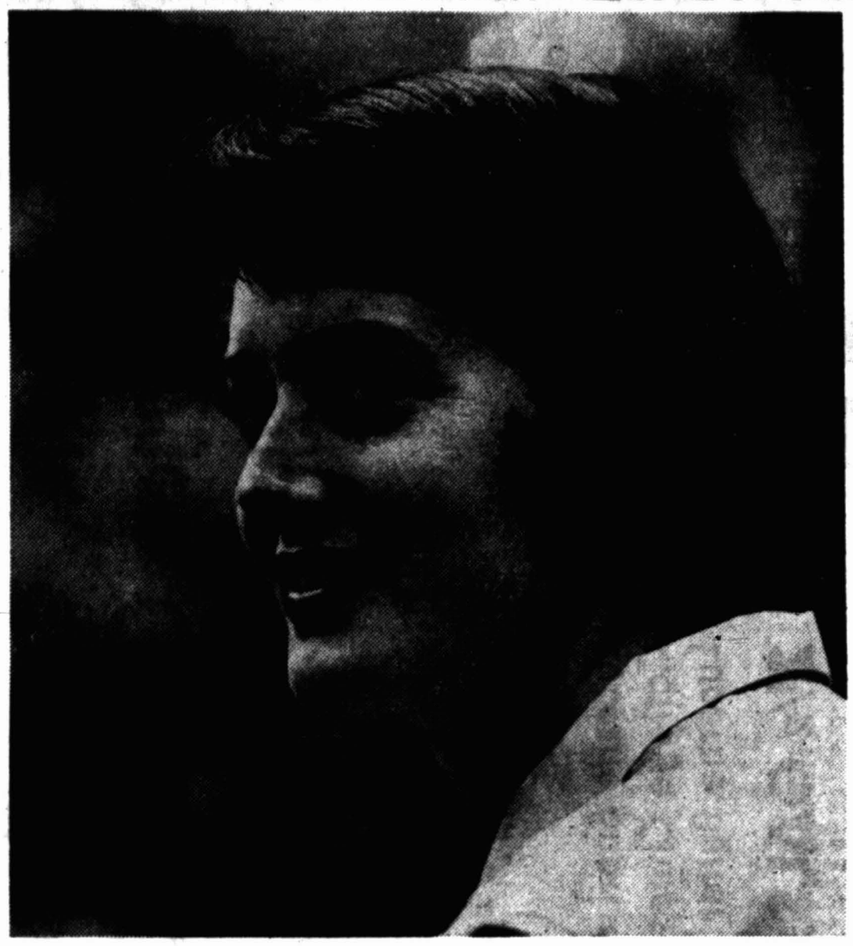
Silver Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stevens celebrated their silver wedding anniversary on August 24 with a dinner at Rocky Point Lodge. Sharing the occasion with them were Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Oberfohren. The latter was one of the witnesses at the Stevens' wedding 25 years ago. Also at the dinner were Mrs. Oberfohren's son, John Ruster, and his wife, Amy.

Early in 1959, Mr. and Mrs. Stevens visited the Oberfohrens in Carmel. Charmed with this area, they bought a home in Pebble Beach and moved here from Mamaroneck, New York.

The Stevens now have a collection of pets that includes two cats, Peter and Chimpy, a doe and her fawn, a family of raccoons, and a covey of quail. The wild animals are regular dinnertime guests at the Stevens' home.



Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lloyd announced the engagement of their daughter Lucinda "Cindy" to Johnny Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard S. Williams, on Saturday during a barbecue at the Williams' home in Carmel Valley. No definite date has been set for the marriage.

Both Cindy and Johnny are students at the University of California at Davis. Cindy graduated from Carmel High School in 1959 and also attended Sunset and Bay Schools.

Johnny is a graduate of Carmelo School and Monterey Union High School. He studied at Monterey Peninsula College for a year and a half before transferring to Davis where he is a senior, majoring in agricultural economics, and will graduate in January. He is affiliated with Phi Delta Theta fraternity and last year was vice-president of the Davis chapter, also interfraternity council representative and a member of the executive committee of the UCD Associated Students.

Cindy is the granddaughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. F. E. Lloyd of Carmel and Montreal, Canada. Dr. Lloyd came here in the summer of 1911 to do research at the Carnegie Coastal Laboratory, built a home near the Mission, and, following his retirement from the faculty of McGill University in 1935, lived in Carmel permanently.

Johnny is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams of Monterey and the late Mr. and Mrs. Will Martin (Anna Hatton) of Carmel Valley. His great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Martin of the Mission Ranch settled near Carmel almost a century ago and the house in which they brought up their family of nine children still stands.

Guests at the announcement barbecue, in addition to the young people's parents, were Cindy's sister, Jennefer, with her husband, Nathaniel Baylis, and their sons, Owen and Lloyd, all from Menlo Park; Cindy's brother, Skip, and his wife, Sue, from San Francisco; her younger sister, Mardi; Johnny's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Williams; his sister, Kate Williams; his uncle, Hatton Martin of Hollister; a cousin, Gordon Martin and his wife, Grace, from Stockton; another cousin, Robert Martin, with Emily Spina, both of Hollister; and Cindy's cousin, Marion, with her husband, William Henry Talbot, who were married in New York City on August 6 and drove to Carmel on their honeymoon. Mrs. Talbot is the daughter of Dr. David P. C. Lloyd of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, Cindy's uncle.

Cedric Rowntrees Here

Cedric and Harriet Rowntree of Berkeley and their 12-year-old daughter, Patty, are spending two weeks at Carmel Highlands in the home of Mr. Rowntree's mother, Mrs. Lester Rowntree. Formerly a member of the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department, Mr. Rowntree is now associated with the State Department of Education as a traveling instructor in fire training. His territory extends from Berkeley to King City. During his weeks here he is visiting and teaching in Peninsula fire departments.

Rowan Rowntree, Cedric and Harriet's older son, is married and associated with Crown-Zellerbach Company's marketing and sales department in San Francisco, after graduating from San Francisco State College in January. Their second son, Lester, will be a junior at San Jose State College this year. He is majoring in business administration and is also keenly interested in the field of recreation.

League Of Women Voters Meet

The fall program of the Monterey Peninsula League of Women Voters begins on September 22. This week the board of directors met on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. DeForest Sweeney to consider a finance drive in October and voters service.

Mrs. H. T. Stotler, president, announced the following chairmen for this year: finance drive, Mrs. Ralph Kane; program, Mrs. Edwin Bliss; membership, Mrs. John Nicoll; public relations, Mrs. C. E. Spangenberg; continuing responsibilities, Mrs. Sweeney; voters service, Mrs. Howard Clark; communications coordinator, Mrs. Martin Glasser; publications, Mrs. Joseph Morlan; national item foreign policy, Mrs. Bernard Revoir; nominating committee, Mrs. Hugh Steven; state constitution item, Mrs. Bessie Irvin.

Other board members are Mrs. Adrian Bennett, past president; Mrs. John Brock, vice president; Mrs. Donald McKenzie Jr., secretary; Mrs. Murl Fritschle, treasurer.

The Carmel unit meets next Thursday for the first time with Mrs. J. B. Spellar as chairman. Mrs. Stotler invites all newcomers interested in joining the League to telephone membership chairman Mrs. Nicoll.

ACCIDENT ?

Dropped from a jay's tail, feather of blue, longed-for sign of Heaven's nearness.

—ALICE COGGINS LONGAKER.

BIG BASIN

Sun comes shuttered through these aisles fingering its light on younger ferns and paler growth of huckleberries.
Sequoias hush all sounds of outer world:
all whistle shrieks, and locomotive bells,
and clang of industry on wheels.
The deer come hungerclose with trust in eyes that seek and share without false pride which human eyes invariably reveal.
A spotted thrush moves caution-free, churched in the bounty of its host:
this redwood world is rimmed with confidence,
where peace lives on, unarmed and unafraid.

—RUTH MURRAY JONES

CONSTANCY

Gold sand-verbena and the sun,
The gale, a gull, a sculptured dune;
The changeless sea and I are one,
Again our kindred hearts commune.

I have returned lured by the need
Of ships and clouds against the west,
Of driftwood, shells, and tangled weed
Where purple flood-tides sink to rest.

Cathedral-like there is no change
Beneath this everlasting sky,—
The whispering wind, the sea-song strange,
And listening, contemplative I.

—WALDEN GARRATT.

SUMMER PERSPECTIVE

Autumn days were leaves
Detached one by one
From the tree of life
And blown into oblivion.
Winter days were snowflakes
Melting one by one
Into the flow of time.
Spring days were doves
Lifting skyward one by one
Until lost in the firmament.
In the now of summer
Days are sea-murmuring shells
Tumbling one by one
Into the well of memory.

—BERNICE MINARIK

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

September really means autumn is here. When the children begin school again, there should be more time for reading, and we have good reading right at hand. Let's begin wth Enjoy! by Harry Golden. This is the third book by the Carolina editor and reviewers seem divided. Some say it's his best book and others seem to think that after two best-sellers, he might have waited until he had more to say. His remarks are amiable and pithy. Myself, I think he's worth reading any time.

Another editor who is less amiable and a much better word craftsman is James Wechsler of the New York Post. His book Reflections of an Angry Middle-Aged Editor is divided into three parts entitled The Bland and the Beat, Issues, and Men and Myths. Here is a man who comments on today's scene without extra words yet with meaning c l e a r l y apparent. The book gets better as it progresses and it might be a good idea to begin in the middle and work both directions.

It seems to have taken two writers to ghost-write the book by Charles Chaplin, Jr., about his famous father, but they have done a good job of it. This is a warm remembering sort of book which explains Charlie Chaplin, Sr., and all the other people who made up the milieu of the two boys, Charlie and Sydney Chaplin. The title is My Father, Charlie Chaplin.

Walter Lord thinks of the years from 1900 to the first World War as the "good years" and this is the title of his book about them. It is illustrated with photographs which are fascinating b e c a u s e most of them are the candid camera type although they were done long before anyone coined that phrase.

General Maxwell Taylor says that the doctrine of massive retaliation has endangered our national security and that weaknesses in the Joint Chiefs of Staff system have left the planning of our military strategy to civilian amateurs and budget-makers, and he says a lot more. His book The Uncertain Trumpet presents a practical program for remedying the serious defects in our military system. It is to be hoped that this book will reach the general reader.

Only the judgement of years can tell whether or not John Foster Dulles was a great Secretary of State but even today we can tell that he was a good man with both wisdom and courage. A collection of his writings is contained in a small book entitled The Spiritual Legacy of John Foster Dulles.

There are nine new novels, one of which is the latest mystery by Kenneth Millar who writes under the name of Ross Macdonald. It's called The Ferguson Affair, and it's a good one, which I know because I read it, being a mystery buff.

After Labor Day the visitor crowd should thin out and you can again find a parking space near the library.

Lions District Governor Here

The Carmel Lions Club welcomed District Governor James Petit on an official visit here on August 23. He is a rancher from King City and was installed at the Lions International Convention in Chicago during July. His term runs for one year. Under his guidance are 66 Lions Clubs between San Francisco and San Ardo, comprising District 4C-4.

Governor Petit brought here greetings from Lions International and told of the services Lions Clubs throughout the world are performing in their respective communities. He highlighted the convention from the District Governor's school through the Grand Parade and business sessions. Since the addition of Lions Clubs in Israel, Vietnam, Indonesia and Thailand, the Lions organization serves 107 countries or areas in the free world. Its 15,027 clubs and 613,108 members make it the largest service club in the world, he stated.

Governor Petit congratulated members of the Carmel Lions Club for the many ways in which they have served the community, and for the support they are giving to district projects, chiefly the new Lions Eye Foundation for Children that is in its formative stage and will be established in San Francisco as soon as funds are available. He also spoke of the part Lions are taking in education. Cooperating with a Lions club in a foreign country, Lions here are paying for the schooling of a needy youngster who, it is hoped, will remain in his own country and give his own people the benefit of his education.

Following his address, Governor Petit met with the board of directors of the Carmel club and outlined work to be done this year.

Also present at the meeting were Deputy District Governor Dr. Frank Granito of Seaside, Zone Chairman Ross Wallace of Pacific Grove, Cabinet Secretary John Doyle of King City, Lion Jack Eagal of Stockton who was congratulated by the Governor for his 37 years of perfect Lion's attendance, also Lions Andy Anderson and Ken Brooks of Pacific Grove, Bill Harmer of Seattle and Dr. Ralph Jackson of Carmel, the guest of Dr. William Coughlin.

Presbyterian Rummage Sale

The Women's Association of the Carmel Presbyterian Church are holding a rummage sale in the American Legion Hall on September 8 from 9:00-4:00 o'clock. Items for sale are varied: a baby scale, luggage, including a streamer trunk, a lawnmower, golf clubs, a vacuum cleaner, a grabnet, a warm coat for a little dog, clothing for men, women, children and teenagers, also lingerie, all in fine condition.

The committee in charge of the sale are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Koontz, Mrs. Edward Adams and Mrs. Robert J. Oberfohren. All men and women of the church are working hard to make the event a success as September 11 is the fifth anniversary of the dedication of the church.

Town House Talk With Slides

Kay Chase, member of the Photographic Society of America and salon exhibitor, will present the Wednesday afternoon program at the Carmel Foundation Town House this week, starting at 3:00 o'clock. Impressions of Verona will be the topic and will feature color slides with an introductory talk and recorded comments. Tea will be served following the program.

Mr. Graves Packs To Mt. Hood

C. Edward Graves is back from a vacation during which, with his son, Ted, he backpacked in Eden Park on the northwest slopes of Mount Hood.

When Mr. Graves was on an apple ranch near Hood River 40 years ago, he named Eden Park and took the first parties into the wilderness. Because of rain, Mr. Graves left Eden Park after four days, and went to Mount Shasta where his son lives and teaches science at Mount Shasta High School.

Mr. Graves was for 21 years librarian at Humboldt State College. His older granddaughter, Nedra, 19, named after her grandfather's nickname Ned, is now a junior at Humboldt State. His younger granddaughter, Shirley, attends Mount Shasta High.

Mr. Graves reports that it was snowing at Crater Lake during his visit in the northern part of the state.

Council Split On Permit, Planners To Meet Friday

broad" as this area is extremely attractive and adjacent to residential property on the periphery. The C-1-S peripheral area would be desirable for suggested parking, and pressure would be heavy to allow undesirable developments.

"A number of uses (allowed here) will not raise the level but lower desirable areas," he added. "I am concerned about the service station problem," he continued. "The planning-commission-drafted ordinance enlarges the area where service stations can be placed. I am not interested in the philosophy of conditional uses in view of the fact that there is no guarantee that later planning commissions will have a conservative point of view."

Mr. Whittlesey wanted positive action in regard to amortizing nonconforming uses such as gas stations on a time limit basis. He objected to allowing gas stations to exist in C-1-S, where they are not permissible now, by granting use permits under new zoning. Referring to the stations now in C-1-C, Mr. Whittlesey said, "It is hard to draw arbitrary lines to close down one station and permit one across the street." He wanted gas stations moved out of C-1-C "when it can be accomplished over a period of years. I cannot vote for a law which extends conditional uses in C-1-S," he emphasized. Mr. Whittlesey went on to say that the proposed zoning ordinance lacks any attempt to control site size and provides nothing effective to prevent large structures.

"I frankly feel there is every justification for site size restriction," he said and suggested 12,000 square feet as large enough site area for any one business district development. He also thought 1250 square feet of site per multiple dwelling unit was preferable to the 1000 square feet demand in the proposed ordinance.

Lastly Mr. Whittlesey wanted the new ordinance to contain some clarification of accessory uses to service station parking facilities.

Councilman John Chitwood spoke next. He said the 1000 square feet multiple dwelling restriction was preying on his mind and that the 80 foot frontage limit per business building in the proposed ordinance would eliminate apartment development, "which we need." Mr. Chitwood also opposed the control of exterior decoration on buildings suggested in the proposed ordinance. It controlled artistic expression, he said.

"People should be free to express themselves with anything this side of obscenity." he remarked.

Councilman Whitaker then jumped into the fray. "The ordinance has shaped up in different form than suggested in the master plan six months ago," was his opening gambit.

"I am disappointed that a transition zone exists in only one spot. I support Mr. Whittlesey's demand for more open space. I'm concerned about only two percent. I would be glad to cut down size of site and buildings. I am concerned about the principle of conditional uses. Use permits are the worst problems to spell out." He rapped out in rapid order. The ordinance failed to provide a good solution to the gas station problem in Carmel, he added.

Mr. Whitaker wanted gas stations left as nonconforming uses, taken out of C-1-S as conditional uses, but allowed in C-2 as conditional uses, "a good chance to prevent a service station on Torres Street across from the residence district," he emphasized. Mr. Whitaker also suggested C-1-L should be extended to provide a protective fringe across from the residence district by including other entrances to the business district in addition to lower Ocean Avenue.

Councilman Norberg wanted site control in the new ordinance, preferably 8,000 square feet maximum, also bulk control for buildings. "If we do not in some way control site and size we may have giant monstrosities on Ocean Avenue," he declared.

Speaking of multiple dwelling square footage per unit limitation, Mr. Norberg suggested 1500 square feet instead of the 1000 square feet set in the proposed ordinance. He also wanted motels spaced one to a block or within 500 feet of another motel, whichever was the greater distance.

Some control of the sale of liquor under similar spacing was desirable, too, Mr. Norberg said. He wanted no conditional uses or as few as possible in every zone, and these spelled out in the new ordinance. Gas stations, thought Mr. Norberg, should be kept as nonconforming uses, and not allowed on use permit except in C-2, where they have only been allowed for 20 years.

Mayor Frank Putnam stated that the city council was an autonomous body and could overrule any planning commisssion decision if such decisions appeared to the council to be undesirable to citizens and then gave an impassioned defense of C-1-S conditional uses as a means of dealing with gas stations in Carmel.

"Gas stations as they now exist tend to perpetuate a monopoly," he began, "I will not vote for a monopoly, as preserving a monopoly that has existed for thirty-five years is preposterous. Regulating gas stations to C-2 is legislating them out of business. Citizens would be forced to go over the hill for gas and this is a disservice to future generations," he added.

Later Mr. Putnam remarked that it was better to have gas stations on use permits which allow property improvements, than left as deteriorating nonconforming uses which cannot be improved. Rather leave them in C-1-S on use permits, was his solution to this gas station problem.

Although emotionally in accord with stringent site and bulk control, Mr. Putnam thought such controls would be unfair to persons who bought and owned property. They were entitled to develop their property within reasonable limits, and in the past developers had not been bound as they are now, he stated.

During later discussion Mr. Norberg nonplussed both commissioners and councilmen when he asked why the Fenton Plaza block was in C-1-S zone as it is entirely a retail store development and should be logically placed in C-1-S retail zone. Mr. Whitaker agreed. This was considered a matter to be considered at tomorrow's meeting. George Walker, attorney for Dale and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Leidig, who are opposing in court the service station at the Fenton Plaza, supported Mr. Whitaker's suggestion that C-1-C zone be extended to include the Fenton block.

Ralph Thompson, attorney for a group of C-1-S property owners, suggested a separate ordinance for gas stations.

Admiral Fisher, president of the Citizens Committee, urged both council and commission to frame a zoning ordinance that would be a legal presentation of the wishes of the citizens.

Victor Velissaratos spoke against gas stations in C-1-S zone. He called the conditional use provisions in this area "a double-edged weapon," and added that use permits would permit a gas station across from residential property near Junipero and Eighth, where a motel already exists.

Ondrejka To Hold Symphony Auditions At HS On Sept. 14

Following a cross-continent drive from New York City, the Monterey County Symphony's new director, Arnold Ondrejka, and his wife, Margot, settled this week into an ocean-view house on North Carmelo Street.

At the moment, the Ondrejkas are occupied with unpacking, familiarizing themselves with Carmel and the Peninsula, and meeting representatives of the orchestra and symphony board—in addition to study and practice sessions to which Ondrejka, with his dual obligations as musical director and Rockefeller grantee, devotes his mornings.

Already deep in plans for the forthcoming symphony season, Ondrejka anticipates meeting all former and prospective orchestra players at informal group auditions scheduled for Monday evening, September 12, at Carmel High School, preceding the first full rehearsal on Wednesday, September 14.

Tonight Ondrejka will be formally introduced to the full Symphony Association board of directors at a supper being given by the Reverend H. M. M. Nicholas.

Delighted with Carmel and keenly looking forward to his first contact with the orchestra, Ondrejka says he feels only a few things lack after his first week as a Carmelite: acquisition of a private P. O. box, ownership of a dog, and time to walk on the beach.

Art On The Peninsula . .

The Artists Guild of America, Monte Verde and Ocean, is showing paintings by William Darling and Marjory Adams through September.

William Darling was born and educated in Hungary. He studied art at the Royal Academy of Budapest. Several of his paintings, exhibited at the National Art Gallery, were purchased by the Hungarian Government and hang in government buildings.

He came to the United States to escape serving as an officer in the Hungarian Army, married an American girl, and added her name, Darling, to his, thus becoming William Sandorhasi Darling.

As a motion picture art director for 30 years, William S. Darling won three Oscars, for his work on Cavalcade, Song of Bernadette and Anna and the King of Siam. He also was awarded the gold plaque of the Society of Motion Picture Directors. He is a member of the Society of Western Artists, former president and now vice president of the Laguna Beach Museum and Art Gallery, member of La Jolla and San Diego Art Associations, the Palm Springs Desert Art Center and the Society of Motion Picture Directors.

Twenty paintings by Marjory Adams, wife of William Darling, will be shown on the mezzanine this month. She won seven awards in one day for her pastels and oils exhibited this spring at the National League of American Pen Women show in Santa Monica. Her portrait, Young Couple included in the local show, was awarded first prize at the annual Pen Women's Exhibit at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D. C.

Marjory Adams has studied with John Jay Baumgartner, San Francisco; William A. Griffith, University of Kansas; Eliot O'Hara and Frederic Taubes, New York City. She has been coordinator for Mr. Taubes' classes in Laguna Beach for the past three years.

Stockholm Guest At Party

Brothers-in-law George B. Turner and Dr. Reuben Johnson celebrated their mutual birthday on August 24 with a smorgasbord at the Turner home. A variety of Swedish dishes prepared by their wives was highlighted with a Swedish tea ring, traditional in the Johnson family, baked by Dr. Johnson's mother.

Guests were Mrs. Reka Johnson, Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Don Johnson with daughters Kim and Kelly, Roderick and Kent Johnson and the latter's guest, Klas Bergman of Stockholm.

Klas is the son of the sports editor of a leading Stockholm newspaper, who is now covering the Olympic Games in Rome. His mother is with International Radio Broadcasting in Stockholm. He will attend school in Santa Monica as an exchange student this year and live in the home of a student who spent the last school year in Sweden with the Bergmans.

ty board of supervisors' approval of the J.C.'s annexation of the Grove district. Under this procedure, the supervisors set a public hearing. If 20 percent of the registered voters in the Pacific Grove District protest by formal petition, the supervisors must call an election. If not, the annexation may go through without the necessity of holding an election.

Last spring the Pacific Grove district passed a resolution of intention to annex to the junior college district if Carmel's annexation election succeeded.

Louise Patton

Funeral services for Mrs. Louise Jane Patton were held on Monday morning in All Saints' Episcopal Church with the Reverend Peter Farmer officiating. Inurnment followed in Mountain View Cemetery, Oakland.

Mrs. Patton, 83, died on August 26 in a local rest home. She had lived in Carmel for the past 25 years. Her home was on Casanova Street between Seventh and Eighth Avenues.

The widow of the late Henry Stannage Patton, who died in 1928, Mrs. Patton moved here from Berkeley in 1935 with her sister Mrs. C. Pidcock, who survives her. She was born in Minnesota on December 21, 1876.

Mrs. Patton was a member of the Women's Civic Club, San Francisco, and All Saints' Episcopal Church, Carmel.

Besides her sister in Carmel, suvivors are a son, Dr. Henry Stannage Patton, Jr., of Piedmont, and two other sisters, Mrs. Edna Bryant and Mrs. Mabel Miller, both living in Canada; five grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel MA 4-3881.

Studio's Summer Musicals To Have Final Performances

The closing performances of Cole Porter's Out of This World and Jerome Kern's Leave It To Jane will be presented at The Studio Theatre tonight and over the Labor Day weekend. The two musical comedies have been delighting audiences through the summer months and have received enthusiastic response and praise. Both musicals were directed by Jerry De Bono and produced by Betty Hackett and Royden Martin.

Out of This World will have its last performances on Thursday and Friday evenings. Leave It To Jane plays for the last two times on September 3 and 4. Curtain time for all performances is at 8:30 o'clock.

Noel Coward's comedy Fallen Angels will be the next production at The Studio, opening on September 16, again under the direction of Jerry De Bono and starring Ruth Warshawsky and Betty Fowlston.

portant part in foreign aid to Ecuador."

There are now state supported public schools in every town and village with compulsory education.

"In spite of the low standard of living," Dr. Pundt said, "the Indios are a happy and cheerful people. They enjoy many feast days and fiestas. Their needs are few. There are no actually hungry people in Ecuador because the soil is sufficiently rich to produce their everyday needs. The women weave material for their clothing from home produced wool and their Sunday dresses are gay with bright colored embroidery.

"The average Indian house has a dirt floor. Only a very few have electric lights. Running water is usually provided at the street corners. It is very encouraging," Dr. Pundt went on, "That community sanitary facilities have been installed in many hamlets. These measures have brought a marked improvement in the health of the Indios. Recently all the people have been vaccinated against smallpox. Malaria has been reduced to insignificance by spraying with DDT. Yellow Fever has been practically eradicated. Infant mortality, though very high, is slowly being reduced."

Nevertheless, Ecuador is the third poorest nation in South America, he pointed out. Standards lower than Ecuador are only found in Bolivia and Paraguay. The main reason for the poverty of the majority of the people is lack of industry and lack of mechanization in agriculture.

Quito has such a wonderful climate that Dr. Pundt wonders that tourists have not discovered it earlier. "They are slowly doing so since the expansion of the local airport, which permits larger planes to land."

For the lovers of art and architecture, Quito has some 50 old Spanish churches with magnificent interiors, he observed.

"Dr. and Mrs. Pundt found that the social life of a foreign colony in South America is rather lively. People meet for cocktails, sports, or church, or whatever their interests are. The UN Mission at Quito is composed of men of some 30 different nationalities which in itself makes for an animated social life. There is also a large American colony composed of Embassy staff, Point 4 staff, Point 4 Technicians and a U.S. Armed Forces group. Ecuadorian leaders, many of whom take an active part in their government, also convene frequently in their capital city and meet socially with the members of the foreign colony.

In 1957, Dr. Pundt was first appointed as agricultural expert by the Food and Agricultural Organization of the United Nations with headquarters in Rome. He was sent on a mission to Bolivia where he served on the UN team of experts for one year under the Technical Assistance program. The Pundts then came back to Carmel for a brief period and in February 1959 he was again appointed as expert to serve the FAO organization for one year in Ecuador. At the end of that term, he and his wife reported to Rome. Dr. Pundt was offered an appointment with the Economic Commission of Latin America, ECLA, to be stationed at La Paz, Bolivia.

After all reports were submitted, Dr. and Mrs. Pundt then toured Europe, particularly Germany and Denmark.

Dr. Pundt met and married Anna Seifert in San Francisco while attending the University of San Francisco. They have one daughter, Charlotte, now married and living in Palo Alto.

He earned degrees in B.S. and D.V.M. at the Washington State University; then practiced as a veterinary in Oregon for 17 years, interrupted by U.S. Army service when he served as veterinarian at Fort Ord and other military installations during World War II.

the High School faculty, will teach the same subjects as Mr. Jensen.

Principal Orville Rogers expects Sunset enrollment to remain the same as last year's, although two sixth grades have been moved to River School.

Woods School classes start at 9:00 o'clock. Lunch will be served in the cafeteria on opening day. Principal Richard Baron reports that enrollment has risen to 257 pupils as compared to 230 in June. There will be one new teacher at Woods, Miss Jean Hurlbert, who will teach a combined third and fourth grade.

Mr. Baron, also principal of Carmelo School, reports that enrollment in the Lower Carmel Valley school has been increased from 126 pupils in June to 137 as of today. Bus schedules have been mailed to all parents of Carmelo School pupils, he adds. Only new Carmelo teacher is Miss Joanne Overdorff, combined third and fourth grades.

There will be seven new teachers at River School and one returning. Mrs. Marcia Devoe, will resume kindergarten teaching after a year's leave of absence for world travel. New teachers are Miss Sunee Bjorkman, first grade; Mrs. Carol Rivera, third grade; Mrs. Diane Austin, fourth grade; Mrs. Priscilla Nesbitt, fifth grade; Miss Ann Caren, fifth grade; Robert Douglas, a Carmel High School graduate, sixth grade; and Mrs. Ruth Stephenson, sixth grade. Mrs. Stephenson also taught here several years ago.

All River School classes start at 9:00 o'clock on Tuesday. Lunch will be served in the cafeteria. Increased enrollment over last year is expected in addition to the two sixth grade classes moved from Sunset, according to Principal Richard O'Connell.

Tularcitos School in Upper Carmel Valley has an enrollment to date of 475 pupils as compared to 427 in June, Principal William Mallek reports. All classes, kindergarten through eighth grade, will start at 9:00 o'clock on Tuesday. Lunch will be served in the cafeteria.

There will be four new teachers at Tularcitos: Miss Joan Healy, combined first and second grade; Mrs. Evelyn Jennings, second grade; Robert Hoover, sixth grade; Herbert Reuter, Jr., seventh and eighth grade science.

Mr. Mallek also reports that construction of two tennis courts at Tularcitos began yesterday.

The Big Budget and the $1.17 city property tax rate for 1960-61 (21 cents increase) was passed officially by three city councilmen Thursday evening at 5:03 o'clock. Councilman Eben Whittlesey was in San Francisco; Councilman Gunnar Norberg was late. The council, which was meeting especially to perform the formal act, waited three minutes for Norberg, and then proceeded. Norberg, when he arrived, said it was all right. He would have voted "no" anyway. At last week's budget sessions, disapproving so great a jump in property tax rate, Norberg had proposed $25,000 budget cuts exclusive of salary schedule and self-insurance plans.

Monterey Peninsula College registrars expect to enroll 1200 students in day college; 1500 in evening division.

The college runs a bus to Carmel to pick up the Carmel day students. No bus for night students. Why? That is, in view of the statistics, why not?
